

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR A TEACHING POSITION IN THE FIELD OF ANCIENT AND MODERN GREEK LANGUAGE

FUNDED BY THE ONASSIS FOUNDATION AT BOGAZICI UNIVERSITY, TURKEY

The Department of History at Boğaziçi University, Istanbul, Turkey, is pleased to announce that it will be recruiting for an academic position to be funded by the Alexander S. Onassis Public Benefit Foundation as of the beginning of the next academic year in September 2017, in the field of Ancient and Modern Greek Language.

The holder of this position will be expected to teach a total of three courses each semester, two in Ancient and one in Modern Greek Language. The weekly load is four hours for each course. Courses are to be designed for English-speaking students; course material, textbooks, and readings are expected to meet the same requirement.

The position is funded by the Alexander S. Onassis Public Benefit Foundation on the basis of a yearly total of 26,000 Euros net. Boğaziçi University will provide the holder of the position with free accommodation for the duration of his/her contract. Recruitment will be made on the basis of a contract subject to renewal at the end of the academic year. The expected duration of the contractee's stay is two years, but can be prolonged for another two years if all parties agree.

Candidates are expected to have an M.A. or Ph.D. degree in the fields of Ancient Greek Philology or Classics, experience in language instruction, and excellent command of English. Applications should be sent in to the Department of History before March 31st, 2017. The application file should include a detailed CV and three letters of recommendation from specialists in the field. Candidates should also include a detailed syllabus and course description for the courses they will be required to teach (one introductory and one intermediate Ancient Greek and one intermediate Modern Greek).

Applications should be sent both in electronic format by e-mail and as a hardcopy to:
